ECO₂ R744

MAGNETIC TEMPERATURE SENSOR ON ALUMINIUM

The sensor for measuring the R744 cylinder temperature is magnetic. This solution is highly appreciated for its user-friendliness and quick application. But what about aluminum cylinders commonly available?

Our team has come up with a clever solution: a Velcro belt that attaches to the aluminum cylinder with a metal plate that adheres to the cylinder. The magnetic sensor attaches to this plate, providing the same practical use as with metal cylinders.

Everything's ready for the new year?

Workshop's A/C equipment needs care and maintenance. Prepare now the new season.

Winter season leaves and A/C Service in workshops becomes more frequent. Carefully prepared equipment will guarantee professional and efficient service.

In order to avoid wasting time with maintenance while you have to carry out the service, we recommend performing maintenance during the low A/C season in the winter months.

Among most important issues of recommended maintenance services are Software and Database updates while dryer filters and vacuum pump oil substitution are mandatory. To have always reliable equipment in your workshop, please have a look on the Check-list for competent maintenance, available on-line.
